

The Little Story Who Didn't Want To Be Told

by Wilf Merttens
Illustrated by Anne Holm Petersen

Hi! This is a little story about The Little Story
Who Didn't Want To Be Told.

The Red Gold
Dragon is a storyteller.

He is famous. All the animals love his stories.

He keeps his stories in his golden heart.
There are lots of stories who live there.

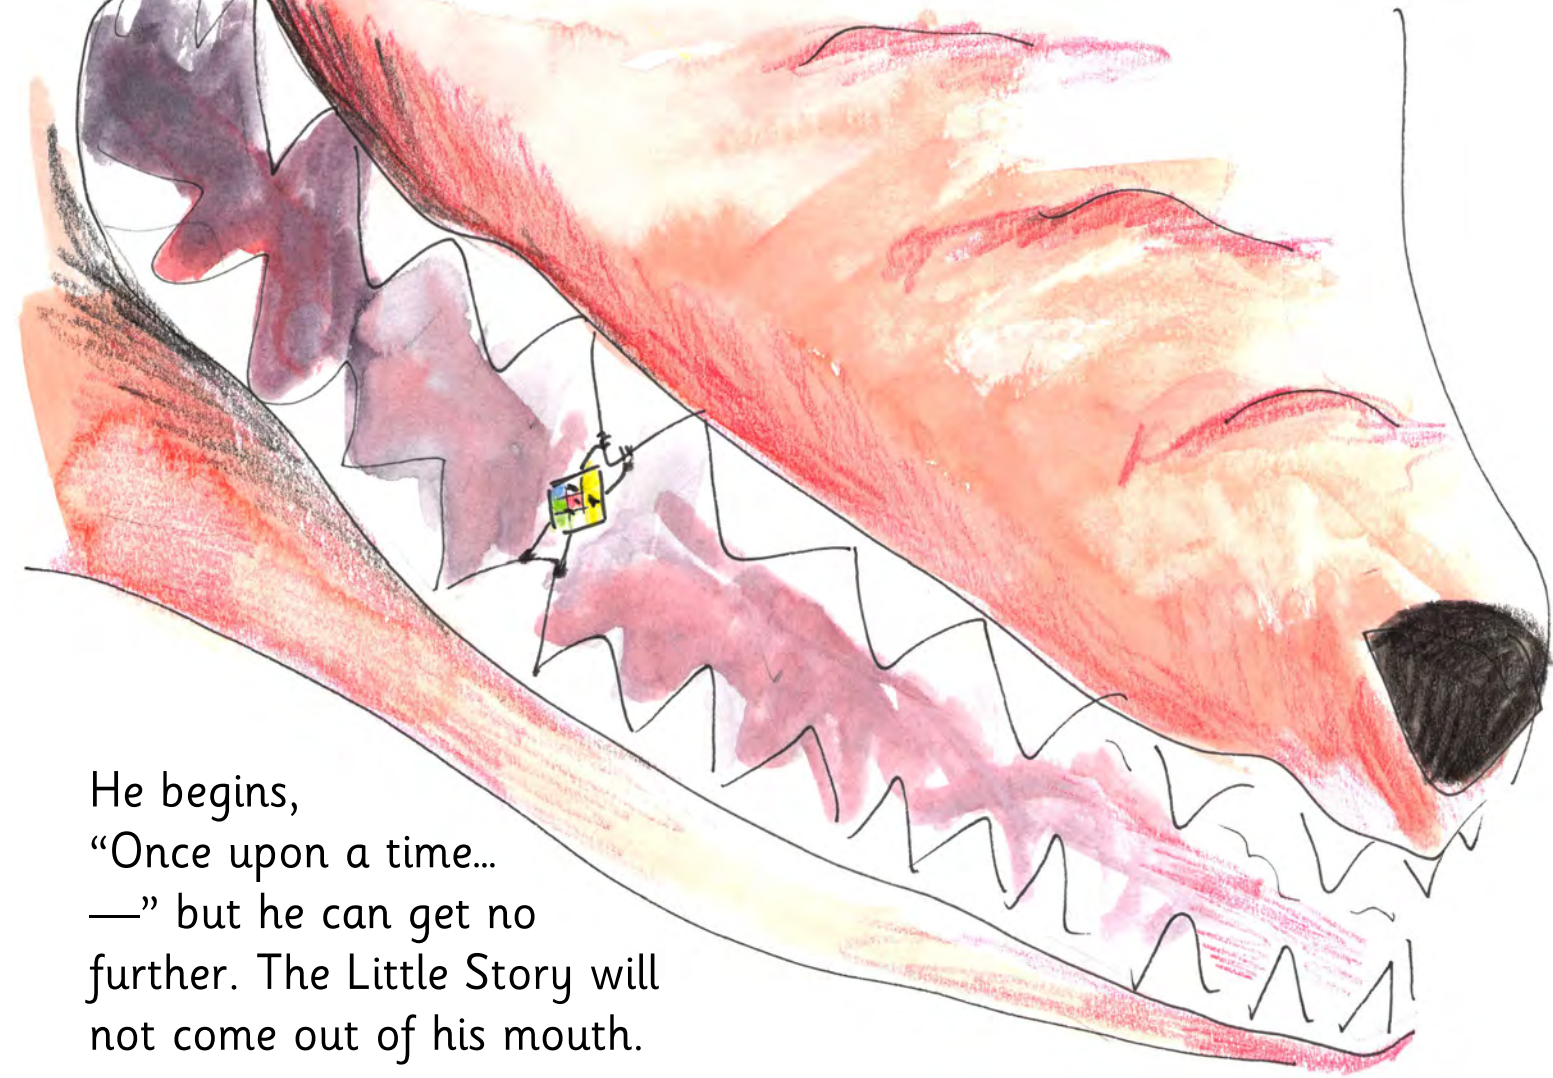

One day some mice are going past his tree. Hey, little mice! Go and see if the Red Gold Dragon is in.

The Red Gold Dragon is happy to tell the mice a story.

Inside the dragon's golden heart is The Little Story Who Didn't Want To Be Told.

He begins,
“Once upon a time...
—” but he can get no further. The Little Story will not come out of his mouth.

The Little Story is scared. She thinks she is not as good as the big stories.

The dragon has messed up his storytelling. He feels confused.

He goes to see the cat. Nice cat. Clever cat. Fat cat.

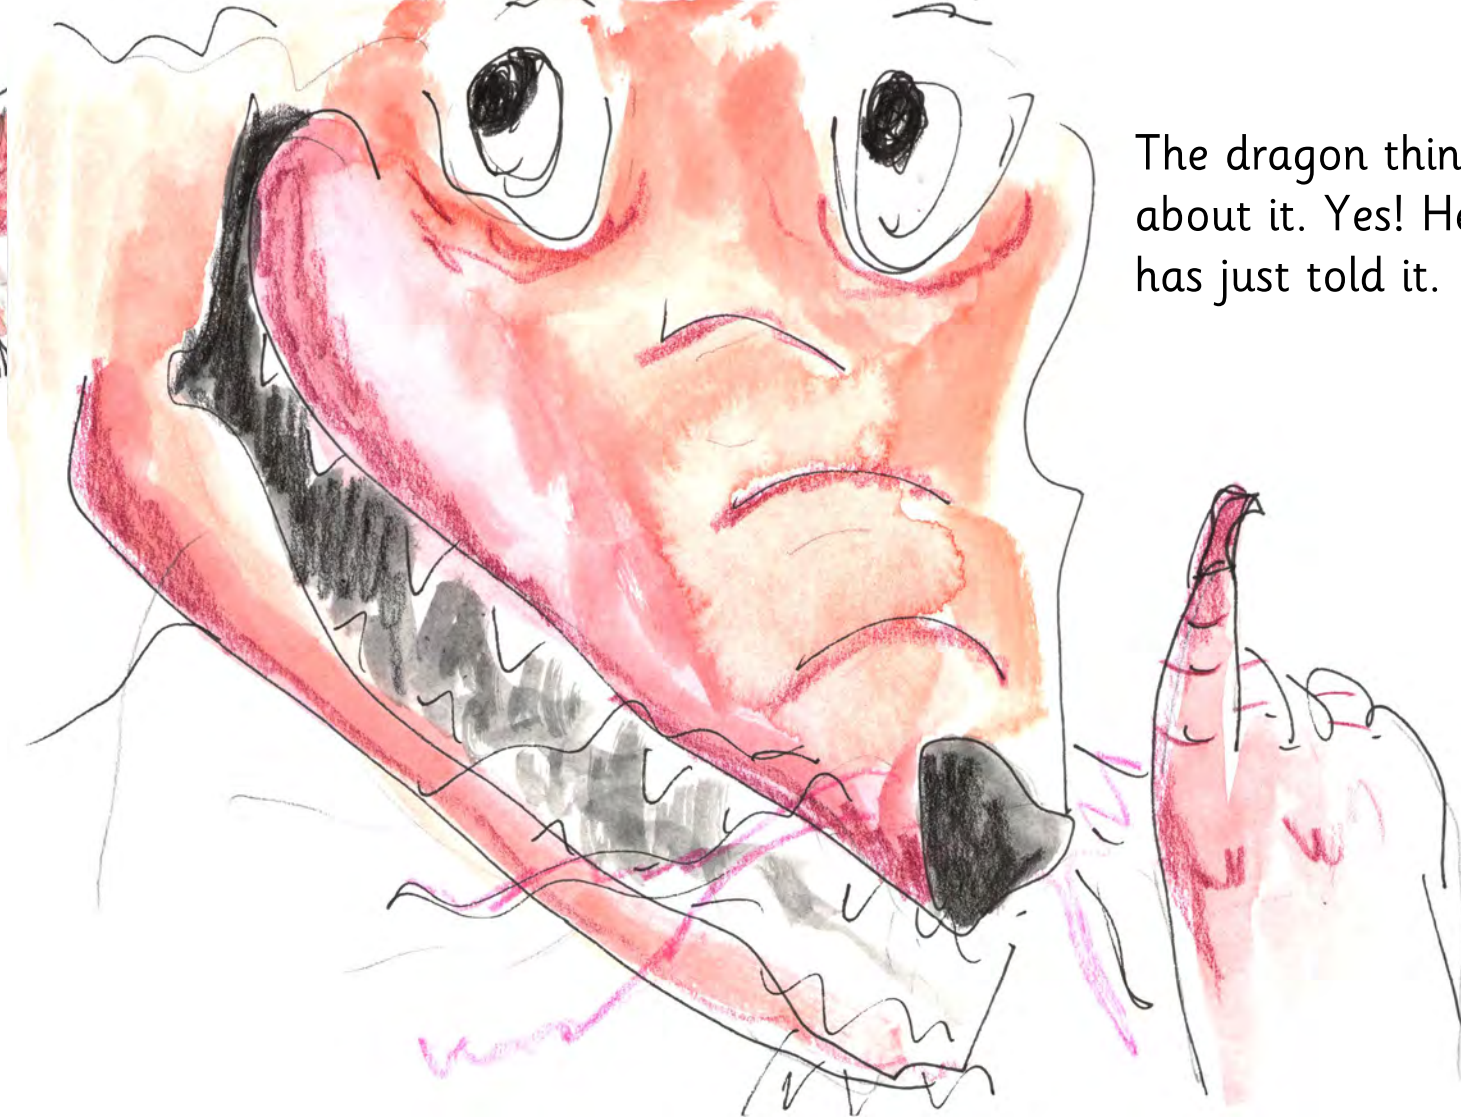

The dragon tells her all about the mice and The Little Story Who Didn't Want To Be Told who was too scared to come out of his mouth.

The cat purrs when she is thinking.

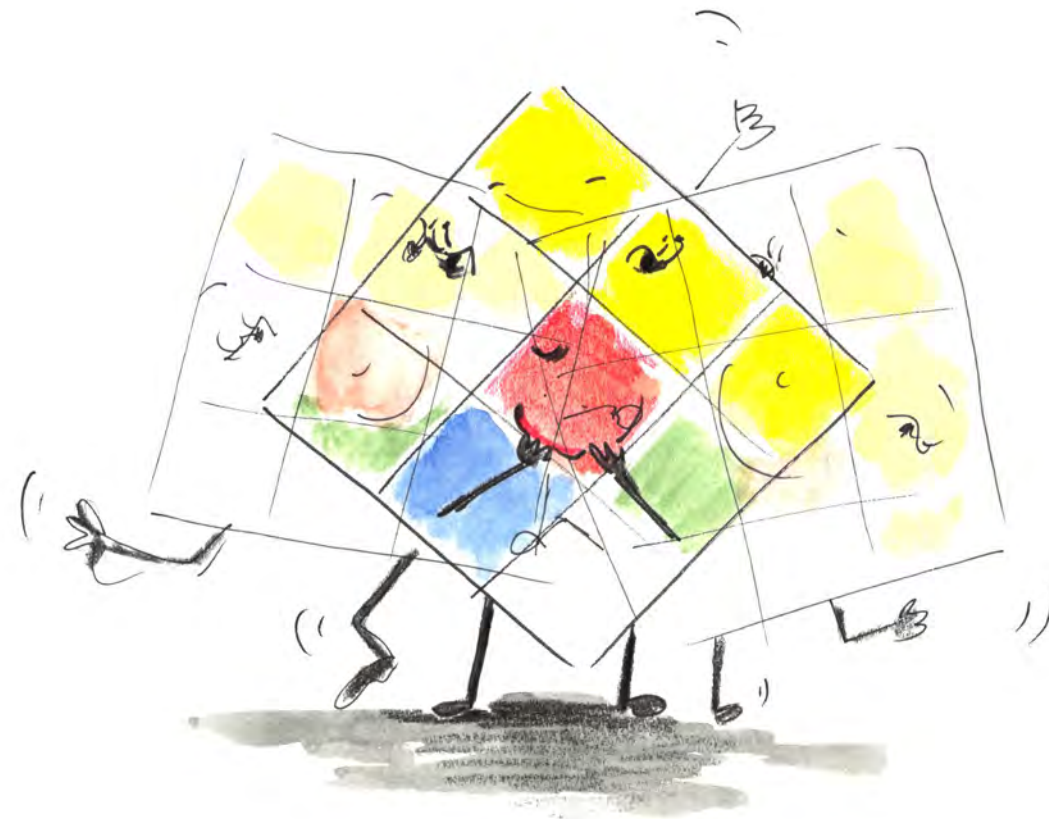

At last the cat speaks, "Are you sure that you have not just told me a little story about the Little Story Who Did Not Want To Be Told?"

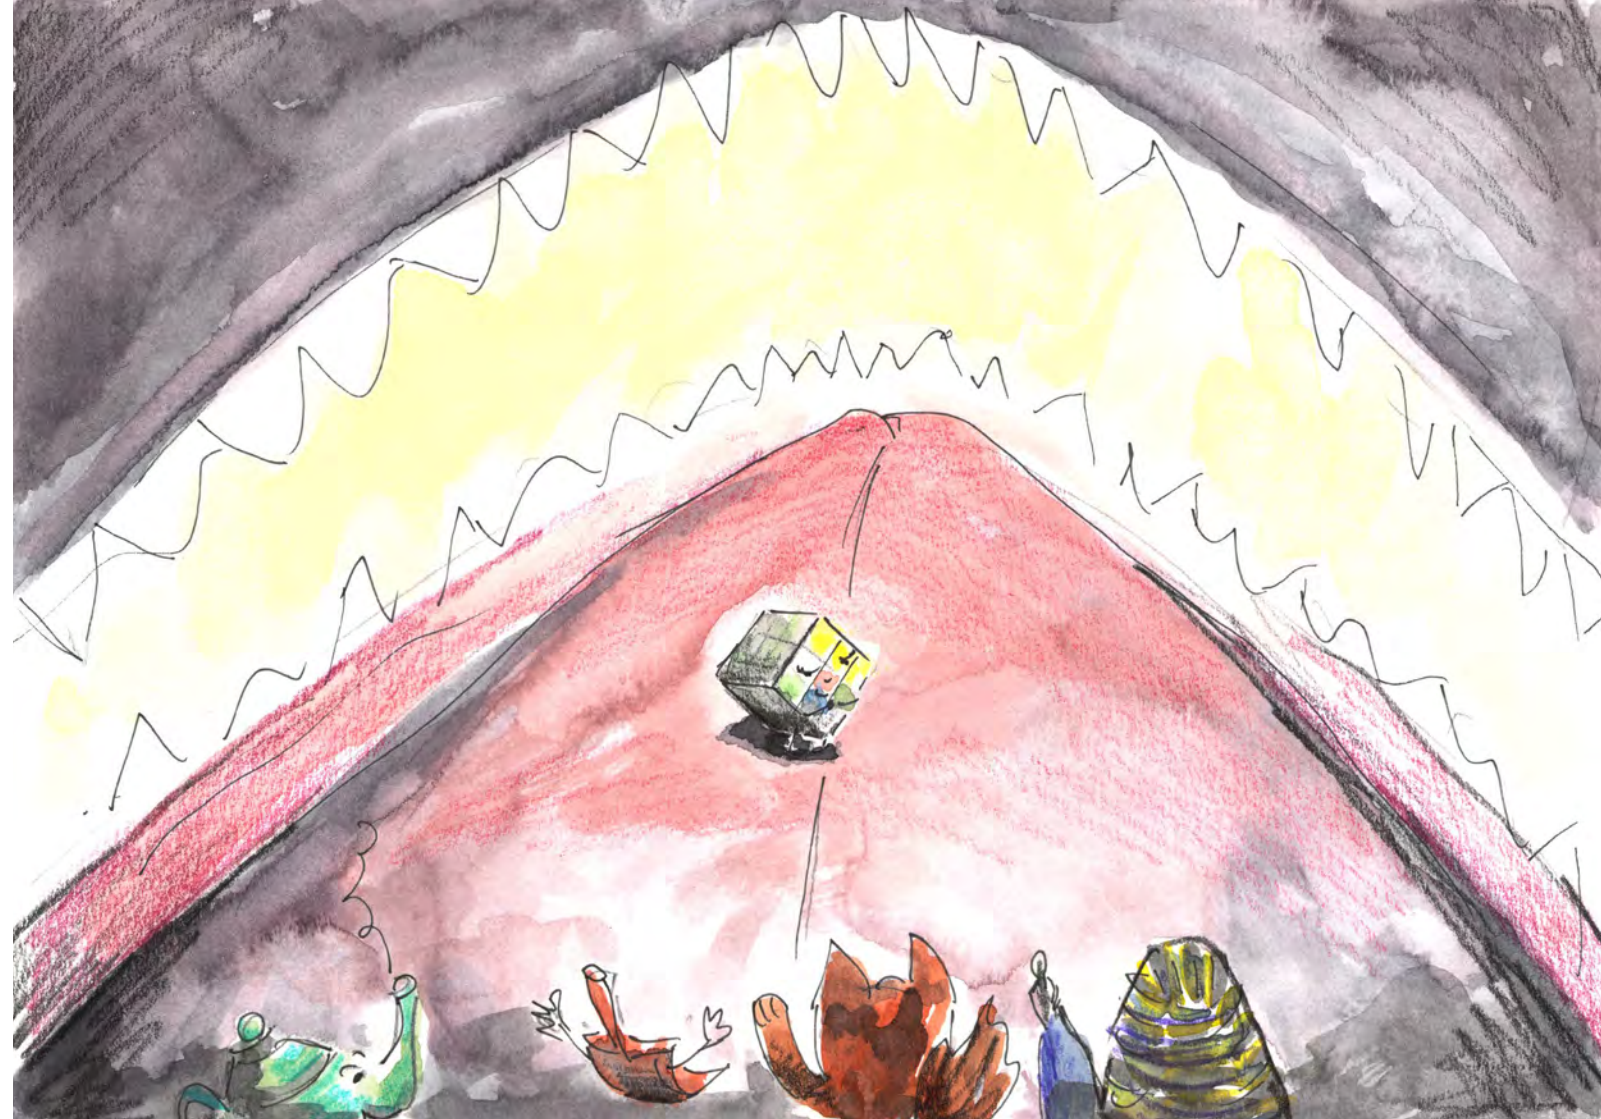

The dragon thinks about it. Yes! He has just told it.

Inside his heart, The Little Story Who Didn't Want To Be Told is dancing around! She feels happy.

Now the Little Story believes she is a fine story. She got told when she wasn't expecting it and everything was fine.

The Red Gold Dragon sits down in front of a bunch of old crocodiles. He begins.

“Once upon a time there was a Little Story Who Didn’t Want To Be Told...”
