In a beautiful Ancient Greek village, all seemed well but on closer inspection Physis the Goddess of nature saw that the fish in the rivers seemed sad. She decided to leave Mount Olympus and travel down to get a better look.

So she decided to disguise herself, she made herself look like an old lady so that the villagers would not question that she was a mortal like them. She sat on a bench next to the fountain and looked into the dirty mucky waters and waited and waited and WAITED until...

She finally spotted a few of the towns people LITTERING as they were passing, they used the water as A RUBBISH BIN!!!

She screamed at them to stop she explained the damage they were doing to the poor fish but they did not listen so she ripped of her disguise they were shocked she told them that whoever got caught littering again will be in BIG BIG trouble. Sure enough some of the villagers kept littering she came down and told them off then turned the people who littered into slimy fish!!!!

THEY HAD TO LIVE IN THE DIRTY WATERS FOR THE REST OF THERE LIVES!
