

RIVER JUMPING

On Wednesday the 18th of February Me, Mummy and Lily went on a walk at the Forest of Bere to walk the dogs, it was a very rainy day so it was a bit cold.

When we got there we put our boots on. It was so wet we had our coats and waterproofs on, even the dogs had theirs on. We found a path off of the usual trail we go on, so we didn't know how muddy it was. You could hear your wellies squelching in the mud, it was so weird that you could hear your own foot steps.

Then we found the parks, we played in them for a little while. In the park we played on the swings and this spring thing but it was really fun in the park. Next we went into the big bit of the woods we found this great climbing tree. I went to the peak of the tree.

On our way back to the car we found this river which was really good to wash our boots off. I decided to jump in from a low down bridge it was so fun. The river was shallow at one end and very deep at the other. When we got back to the car we took off our boots and they were full of water. It was so funny taking them off with all the water falling out the boots.

After our adventure in the woods, we drove back home where Lily and I jumped straight in the shower.

Later I did a zoom with my friend Jack, so it was a really nice day.
