Reifus

Once in a mayan town a massive wave came the people of the town were so terrified. They did not know what to do they thought it was a water monster that was making the very big waves. They didn't want they did not want to fight it because they thought they would die trying. But one brave man thought I don't care if I die I will be protecting my town so he told everyone he would the thing. He plunged his head into the water and he saw a monster a monster as big as two earths. The man went down and challenged the monster to a duel the monster excepted they were going to do it at midnight the time was 2 pm.

e sea and dived 10 hours later... the man went down to the sea and got ready to fight he got to th in he was armed with a sword and nothing else. He got ready and there was a very big CLASH of claws and swords CLASH CLASH CLASH BANG BOOM BASH the monster was spiling blood everywhere the man stabbed the monster one more time and THUMP the monster fell on the grownd dead.
