

The Black Death

In the depths of the ocean a monster is in the cave of the Death that is what the people of hanapm called it the monster swam to the surface!

In the sunny bay of Dale Hunapu was training in the most famous Mayan warrior training camp it was called vanica he was the best Mayan warrior and he had survived at least 16 battles and he was the captain of the army. He had killed nearly all the monsters who attacked the town! At that moment a monster came up out of the water! It was named the Black Death and it attacked the town more than one time the first time it had eaten all the warriors and Itzamna had saved them from the beast and everyone thought it would never attack again but they were wrong it had come back to try and kill all of them and take all their money and bring it down to its hole where it came from!

Hunapu grabbed his lucky spear and his lucky knife. Then ran up to the beast and tried to climb up and kill it but it was t slippery to climb so he tried agan and again and again the beast was to still to slippery to climb so Hunapu ran and jumped into the sea and swam to some rocks to get higher up he climbed up the rocks and jumped up onto the monster his lucky spear fell when he jumped the rocks so Hunapu climb the beast and get to its head. When he was at the top Hunapu stabbed the beast in the eye the beast made a screaming sound and then whent back to killing the warriors and the other people. Hunapu stabbed the beast in the other eye to make it completely blind the creature made the same sound but louder that time then Hunapu rased his Lucky knife in the air and brought it down into the creature's brain! The creature groaned and swayed and fell back wards into the water but Hunapu was still on the creatures back so Hunapu got crushed when the creature fell on the rocks and Hunapu was dead. After his funeral everybody was sad because their hero was dead but the monster spawner was dead.
