

THE NIGHT GAME

This story begins In Chichen Itza's ball court, and it was just an ordinary day in central America and the Mayans were playing a game of pok -a- tok. When suddenly the ground was rumbling and the earth was separating and then the Jaguar God of the night arose from the ground 'you have bothered me along my travel through the under world and now you will pay' Balam shouted and he unleashed his fellow Jaguars among the villagers. Then suddenly, a villager called Xoc went and got her spear, she started to slay the Jaguars one at a time. She had slayed all of the Jaguars so Balam was defeated 'no, noo,NOOOOOO!'. The hole village was saved thanks to Xoc the village built a massive statue of her Slaying the Jaguars.

THE END.