

4th October 2024

Today we are sending home a reading book with your child and you will notice very quickly that these 'reading' books do not have any words! Please look at the pictures with your child and encourage them to describe the characters and create and tell you their own story about what is happening. Don't be afraid to ask them questions or suggest what might be happening if they are finding it tricky, and do rephrase if you feel this would help. We have all shared a wordless book at school in the last couple of days so hopefully the children should be keen to have a go. Using pictures for clues really supports the children when they start reading and these first books will help them to look more in depth at what is happening in each picture and to think about how it relates to the story. Please initial the reading log when you would like a new book.

Kind regards

Mrs Mason

4th October 2024

Today we are sending home a reading book with your child and you will notice very quickly that these 'reading' books do not have any words! Please look at the pictures with your child and encourage them to describe the characters and create and tell you their own story about what is happening. Don't be afraid to ask them questions or suggest what might be happening if they are finding it tricky, and do rephrase if you feel this would help. We have all shared a wordless book at school in the last couple of days so hopefully the children should be keen to have a go. Using pictures for clues really supports the children when they start reading and these first books will help them to look more in depth at what is happening in each picture and to think about how it relates to the story. Please initial the reading log when you would like a new book.

Kind regards

Mrs Mason

